

www.guroph.com

SHORT STORIES

for

KIDS

"Tilly the Triceratops' Terrific Tea Party"

Once upon a time, in a land filled with vibrant colors and friendly dinosaurs, lived a charming little triceratops named Tilly.

Tilly was known for her bright yellow horns, her bouncy steps, and above all, her love for tea parties.

One sunny afternoon, Tilly decided to organize a tea party. She started making invitations, each one carefully crafted with crayons and glitter glue. "This will be the best tea party ever!" she exclaimed with joy.

First, she invited her best friend Molly, the mischievous velociraptor, known for her quick wit and bright green scales. Next, she invited Sammy, the shy stegosaurus with his spectacular spiky tail.

Last but not least, she invited Dolly, the daring pterodactyl, who loved to share exciting stories about her sky-high adventures.

On the day of the party, Tilly arranged everything perfectly. She had cucumber sandwiches, sweet dino-doughnuts, and of course, the tastiest herb tea.

"Tilly the Triceratops' Terrific Tea Party"

As the guests arrived, they were amazed. "Wow, Tilly! This looks amazing!" they all chorused. They spent the afternoon sipping tea, munching on treats, laughing at Molly's jokes, listening to Dolly's tales, and even learning about the stars from Sammy.

As the sun began to set, they all agreed that it was indeed the best tea party they'd ever attended. Tilly was overjoyed.

She realized that what made the tea party truly special was not just the food or the tea, but the company of her wonderful friends.

From that day forward, Tilly's tea parties became a tradition in the land of the friendly dinosaurs, a day filled with fun, friendship, and of course, fantastic tea!

Questions:

1. Who did Tilly invite to her tea party?
2. What did Tilly and her friends eat and drink at the tea party?
3. What made Tilly's tea party truly special?

The Adventure of Dilly Duckling and Bumble the Bee

Once upon a time, in a bustling meadow by the blue brook, lived Dilly the Duckling. Dilly was a curious little duck, always keen to find new things and make new friends.

One sunny day, while waddling around, Dilly spotted a fluffy little creature buzzing around the bright flowers. It was Bumble the Bee, known for his jovial nature and love for nectar.

"Hello, Bumble!" quacked Dilly cheerfully, "What are you doing?"

"I am collecting nectar to make honey," Bumble buzzed back, "It's a very special job."

Dilly was excited. "May I help you?" he asked. Bumble hummed in surprise, for no duckling had ever offered to help a bee. But he agreed, and they started their mission.

With Dilly's webbed feet, they paddled across the brook to reach the juiciest flowers. Bumble gathered nectar while Dilly kept a watch for any danger.

At sunset, they made their way back to the hive, where Bumble turned the nectar into delicious honey.

The Adventure of Dilly Duckling and Bumble the Bee

The honey was the sweetest anyone had ever tasted, and the news of the unusual friendship between a duckling and a bee buzzed through the meadow.

Every creature smiled, knowing that by working together, Dilly and Bumble had made something truly wonderful.

From that day forward, Dilly and Bumble were the best of friends, helping each other and sharing adventures, teaching everyone in the meadow that no matter how different we might seem, we all can work together to create something special.

Questions:

1. What is the special job that Bumble the Bee does?
2. How did Dilly Duckling help Bumble the Bee in collecting nectar?
3. What lesson did Dilly Duckling and Bumble the Bee teach everyone in the meadow?

The Adventure of Twinkling Tia, The Tiny Star

Once upon a time, in the sparkling galaxy of Glamouria, there lived a tiny star named Twinkling Tia. Tia was not as big as the other stars, but she twinkled brighter than any of them.

One day, a worried Moon Mama came to visit Tia.

"My moonbeams have lost their shine, Tia! Do you think you could help?" she asked. Tia, always eager to help, twinkled with excitement. "Of course, Moon Mama. I'll do my best!"

Tia embarked on an incredible journey across the galaxy, meeting friendly constellations and playful planets along the way. She greeted them all with her bright, warm twinkle, spreading joy wherever she went.

Finally, she arrived at the Comet Candy Store, the best place in Glamouria to find glowing candies.

Tia bought a bag of Shimmer Sweets, candies known to bring back lost sparkles. She hurried back to Moon Mama with the bag of Shimmer Sweets.

The Adventure of Twinkling Tia, The Tiny Star

Moon Mama thanked Tia and ate the candies. Slowly, her moonbeams began to regain their lustrous shine.

The Moon, once again, illuminated the night sky with a calming glow.

Everyone in Glamouria was delighted! The stars celebrated by dancing and twinkling all night, and Tia, our tiny star, shone the brightest of them all.

From that day forward, whenever someone needed a bit of sparkle in their life, they knew they could count on Twinkling Tia.

Questions:

1. What is the name of the tiny star in our story?
2. What was the problem Moon Mama was facing?
3. Where did Tia go to find something that could help Moon Mama?

The Great Cookie Adventure

Once upon a time, in the little town of Munchville, lived a friendly, whiskered mouse named Micky.

Micky had a big nose for sniffing out the yummiest treats and he absolutely loved cookies!

One sunny day, Micky smelled the most delicious scent. "Mmmm!" he thought, "That's Mrs. Baker's world-famous choco-chip cookies!" He set out on a quest, ready to follow the tempting aroma.

First, he had to sneak past the Johnson's cat, Snowball, who loved chasing mice. Micky put on a leaf as a hat, pretending to be a little moving bush.

Snowball stared but was soon distracted by a shiny bell. "Phew!" Micky sighed, moving forward.

Next, he came across a large puddle. Micky was a tiny mouse, and to him, it looked like a vast ocean. But Micky was a clever mouse. He spotted a leaf floating nearby.

With a little push, Micky sailed across the puddle on his leaf-boat, reaching the other side safely.

The Great Cookie Adventure

Finally, he reached Mrs. Baker's house. He could see the cooling rack full of cookies on the window sill. Micky found a stack of flowerpots leading up to the window.

He climbed them like a mountain climber, one pot at a time, until he was at the window.

Taking a big leap, Micky landed softly among the warm cookies. The smell was heavenly, and the cookies were so big, they were like cookie mountains to him.

Micky took a small bite from a cookie. "Yum!" he squealed in delight. It was the best cookie he had ever tasted!

Micky returned home, his heart full of joy and his belly full of cookie. The sun was setting, painting the sky in shades of pink and orange.

That night, Micky dreamt of his exciting adventure, and of course, Mrs. Baker's world-famous choco-chip cookies.

Questions:

1. What kind of treat does Micky the mouse love the most?
2. How did Micky cross the big puddle?
3. Where did Micky find Mrs. Baker's world-famous choco-chip cookies?

The Adventures of Bob the Bouncing Ball

Once upon a time, in the town of Vibrant Ville, lived an extraordinary bouncy ball named Bob. Bob wasn't an ordinary ball. He was as red as a summer rose and could bounce higher than the tallest tree in the park.

One sunny morning, Bob decided to go on a big adventure. He wanted to see the world beyond the park, so he bounced his way around Vibrant Ville.

First, he reached the vibrant marketplace. There, he bounced between stalls selling fresh fruits and colorful flowers. A jolly grocer saw him and chuckled, "What a lively ball!" as Bob helped him knock down the ripest apples from the top of the pile.

Next, Bob rolled his way to the town's school. There, he jumped into the playground, entertaining the children during recess. The kids giggled and clapped as Bob performed his bouncy acrobatics, leaping over swings and zooming down slides.

After that, Bob continued his adventure to the edge of town where the beautiful, blue sea stretched out into the horizon.

With a mighty bounce, he leaped into the air and splashed down into the cool sea. He bobbed on the waves, making the fishes and seagulls laugh with his silly antics.

The Adventures of Bob the Bouncing Ball

At the end of the day, as the sun set painting the sky with shades of orange and pink, Bob returned to the park.

He had seen and done so much, and he realized he had made many new friends on his adventure.

Tired but happy, Bob settled down beneath his favorite tree and dreamed of the fun he had and the friends he had made.

From that day forward, Bob was more than just a bouncing ball.

He was Bob, the explorer and friend of all in Vibrant Ville. And that's where he is still bouncing and adventuring today.

Questions:

1. What color was Bob, the bouncy ball?
2. What did Bob do at the marketplace and the school playground?
3. What new thing did Bob discover at the end of his adventure?

Guro PH

www.guoph.com

News.
Workbooks.
Lifestlye.